THE LAND.

We are at last working round to some conception of what the land is or ought to be in the scheme of national well-being. We are at last beginning to see that there is hardly any great social question, however urban it may seem at first, that is not ultimately to be traced back to this problem or that of the open country.—London World.

Pictures of Big Fight Prove Burns Game

London, Feb. 20.—The films of the Burns-Johnson fight at Sydney, Australia, December 26 last, were shown for the first time today to The American correspondent at the National Sporting Club. The exhibition has greatly boosted the stock of Sam Langford, who will meet the heavy-weight champion here the near future. The films are most clear, and the picture best that have ever been seen here. Every blow may be distinctly followed. The sunny smile of Johnson is everywhere evident. Even the movements of his lips as he chafed Burns are plainly visible.

Still it was the consensus of expert opinion that the fight was a most wretched affair from every standpoint. It is believed that it would not have reached the tenth round in England owing to the constant clinching and holding. Contrary to reports from Australia, Johnson did not stand off and fight as has been believed. He always kept at close quarters, and indeed was most rough at this style. It was in the clinches that the negro got in his most damaging blows.

Burns was always the aggressor and always outboxed Johnson. But he played into his man's hands from the start. The Canadian foolishly tried to match his strength and weight against that of the colored fighter. He would come to close quarters and slug away, too, to close. It seemed as if the "kidding" of Johnson made Burns so furious that he lost all judgment.

There seems some mystery as to why the fight should have been stopped. Despite the knockdown in the fourteenth round Burns seemed strong and able to continue. Referee McIntosh, here, however, claims that the Canadian could not possibly have lasted another round. He says, as the pictures show, that Johnson could not land at long range, but that he simply "ripped him up" every time Burns would close with him.

Now as to Langford. It is believed here that Sam is a far abler boxer than Johnson, according to what the films show. If Sam will not adopt Burns' style, but stands off and boxes, it is believed he will be able to overcome the handicap of weight and reach. That Langford has the punch is well known. If Burns could stay fourteen rounds with Johnson, it is believed Langford will stick the limit of twenty.

After looking at the films, Jimmie Britt said:

"There was Johnson's size and weight that made his victory possible. Certainly it was not ability. I do not hesitate to state that if Jeffries is half as good as he was when he retired, he will beat Johnson easily. These pictures will convince the American public that Jeffries need not fear Johnson if he decides to re-enter the ring."

DRISCOLL WINS THE HONORS

Attell and Opponent Do Some Clever Boxing, No Decision Given.

New York, Feb. 19.—Jem Driscoll, the English featherweight champion, and Abe Attell of San Francisco, world's champion of that class, met in a ten-round bout tonight at the National Athletic Club and Driscoll had a shade the better of the contest. The championship title was in jeopardy in the articles governing the match.

At the conclusion of the contest both men were in good condition and probably could have gone on for many more rounds. The experts who watched their every move were unanimous in saying that nothing short of a twenty or twenty-five round fight would be sufficient to determine a decisive superiority of either man.

There was not much betting on the outcome. Even money was offered just before the bout began. It was one of the fastest and cleverest bouts ever seen in this city. Attell seemed to have plenty of steam behind his blows. Driscoll's left jab was frequent, and he landed them in one, two, and on two, three fashion on Abe's face, raising a lump over Attell's eye in the fifth round.

At fighting the American proved the better, sending in some hard body punches that staggered the British boxer. In the sixth round Attell landed a hard swinging left on the head, which sent Driscoll staggering to the ropes. In the seventh Attell reached the face and stomach with telling effect, but Driscoll was willing to mix things up and landed some hard blows over the kidneys. A short right just over the heart made Driscoll look weary as he went to his corner at the end of this round.

Honors were even in the eighth, with both men looking as though they could continue for another hour.

In the ninth and tenth rounds Driscoll had the advantage in the number of blows landed.

The confines of the National Athletic Club was packed with an expectant and excited throng of followers of little sport tonight to witness the ten-round bout between Abe Attell, champion featherweight of the world, and Jem Driscoll, the champion featherweight of England. Long before the little boxers clambered through the ropes, every seat was taken and the balconies jammed.

The betting went to even just before the fighters entered the ring. Attell's seconds were Charles Seger, Al Lipse, Al McMurray and Jimmy DeLore, while Jimmy Johnson, Charlie Harvey and Boy Driscoll looked after the Englishman. Attell was the first to enter the ring and was cordially greeted. He wore tight bandages on his hands. Attell was followed shortly after by Driscoll, whose hands were also bandaged.

Referee Charley White called the men to the center of the ring and gave them their instructions. The fight went on for the battle.

Round 1—Driscoll was short with his left, and Attell ripped left and right to the wind. Driscoll's left went to the face three times and Attell sent left to the body and crowd. Jem to the ropes. Attell missed two swings as Driscoll sidestepped, and the American felt against the ropes. He bounded back, laughing. He hit Jem with a left to the stomach. Jem's lightning left found Attell's mouth. It was Driscoll's round.

Round 2—Attell's left went to the stomach and Driscoll jabbed left to the mouth. The American ripped right to stomach and sent his left to the Englishman's jaw. Driscoll put two lefts on nose and mouth. Jem jabbed three lefts to eye, and the last one on the mouth rocked Attell's head. Driscoll's blocking was marvelous, and Attell's was not a shade behind. Attell got to the wind with a good left. Attell's by shade.

Round 3—Attell's right reached the ear and Driscoll jabbed nose and mouth. Attell sent three lefts to the mouth and Driscoll jabbed left to the nose and mouth. Jem hooked a left to the eye and battered the stomach with a right. Attell blocked two lefts, but Driscoll's right hook landed solidly on the jaw. A swap of lefts on face were followed by Driscoll's right to the jaw. This staggered the American and Driscoll was in like lightning with three lefts on head. Driscoll's round.

Round 6—Driscoll blocked left and hooked a left to Attell's bad eye. Attell jabbed nose with lefts and Driscoll came back with two lefts to head. Attell blocked two lefts to jaw. Jem slowed up a moment, then came back with two short lefts on face. Attell's left went to stomach, and Driscoll planted a good left on Attell's wind. Driscoll landed left twice on the eye. Attell hooked a left on ear, then put two lefts left on the face. Jem attacked Attell's eye at the bell. Attell's round.

Offerings of 12,000 shares of United States Steel common stock at from 47 5/8 to 47 7/8, against 48 3/8 at yesterday's close, and the steel market opening, indicated that the steel market had declined a full point. The general market was lower in sympathy with here and there a few fractional gains.

GOLD NUGGETS EXPOSED BY MEANS OF HEAVY RAINS

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—A special dispatch from Placerville, which is located in the heart of the district, where gold was first discovered in this state, conveys the news that the excessive rainfall of this winter has washed out many pockets and exposed nuggets running in value as high as $125. They have been found in plain sight on top of the ground where the surface dirt had been washed away. Handwritten creek is again the scene of active mining, the rushing flood waters having deposited the fine yellow dust in paying quantities.
